YOUNG HAVEMAYER ON WITNESS STAND

Said His Father Owned Little Refining Co. Stock—Told How Family's Money is Invested.

[By Associated Press.]
Washington, June 20.—Horace Havemayer, 25 years old, son of the late Henry O. Havemayer, testified before the sugar investigation committee that his father owned an insignificant amount of the stock when he dominated the American Sugar Refining company. He said the family's fortune is now estimated at $15,000,000, two-thirds of it invested in manufacturing beet sugar.

EMANCIPATION OVER

There were but few signs left this morning of the emancipation celebration, and things again settled down to their normal condition. Work on all the brick buildings, which was suspended yesterday on account of lack of sleepers, was resumed this morning, as well as all the public works. A few drunks, and perhaps a fistfight or two, were the only disturbances to mar the pleasures of a more than usually enjoyable celebration for the colored people.

MYSTERIOUS KILLING AT STAMFORD

Dr. J. M. Alexander Followed Robt. S. O'Neil Into Lavatory of Hotel and Deliberately Shot Him.

[By Associated Press.]
Stamford, June 20.—There was a mysterious killing in the washroom of the Stamford Inn here this morning. Robert S. O'Neil, a traveling man for the St. Louis branch of the National Lead company, who had just arrived in town over the Texas Central railroad, and was followed into the washroom by Dr. J. M. Alexander, of Abilene, who had arrived here in an automobile and who sat quietly in the machine reading a newspaper until O'Neil's arrival. In the washroom Alexander fired several shots, killing O'Neil instantly. Alexander then walked to the manager of the inn, to whom he gave up his pistol. He made bond immediately, appearing calm and laughing and chatting with those about him. The cause of the shooting is unknown.

Who O'Neil Is.

Dallas, June 20.—O'Neil was a young married man. His wife is now in Milwaukee. O'Neil is reported to be connected with a prominent Milwaukee family.

MEXICAN BOY LYNCHED

Stabbed Citizen to the Heart and Was Hung to a Ladder by Infuriated Citizens.

[By Associated Press.]
Austin, June 20.—Governor Colquitt has not been officially informed of the lynching of a Mexican lad at Thorndale last night. The governor says he will take action if requested. Estimates of the lad's age vary from 12 to 19.

The lynching was the result of the Mexican stabbing Charley Zeischang, aged 35, to the heart.

The Mexican boy, it is said, was going along the railroad track of the International and Great Northern, about sundown, whittling upon a piece of plank. Someone told him to stop whittling and he replied that he would do as he pleased. Zeischang, it is said, took the plank from the boy's hands, striking him with it. The boy, it is said, lunged at Zeischang, plunging his pocket knife in his left side, just above the heart. Zeischang fell to the ground and expired almost immediately.

The Mexican boy, whose name could not be ascertained, fled, but was captured and taken to the calaboose. Feeling ran so high, however, that the constable deemed it best he be spirited away to the county seat, Cameron, about twenty-three miles distant. He was unable to secure a conveyance. Becoming alarmed, it is said, the constable turned the boy over to a citizen with the request that the citizen convey him to a place of safety.

The mob gathered quickly and, getting trail of the boy, took him from the citizen and hurried him to a telegraph pole on the International and Great Northern railroad, about fifty yards from town. A ladder was placed up against the pole, a rope tied around the boy's neck, and he was quickly drawn up to the top rung of the ladder, where he choked to death. The mob dispersed.

Little is known of the boy. He was an undersized little fellow and nothing more than a child. Zeischang was owner of an automobile garage and had resided here for about three years. He leaves a wife and four children.

DEATH OF A LITTLE BOY

The death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kosarek at Smetana on Sunday afternoon and took away their little six-year-old son. His going leaves the home desolate, and Mr. and Mrs. Kosarek have the deep sympathy of many friends in their sad bereavement.

The little fellow was laid to rest at Smetana yesterday morning at 10 o'clock.

BIG CROWD AT CALVERT

The Houston and Texas Central sold 250 tickets to Calvert today, the exodus being colored people going up to a big emancipation celebration. It seems the Calvert people visited the celebration here in large numbers yesterday, and in turn invited the Bryan people to go up and celebrate with them today and the invitation was very largely accepted.

LORIMER INVESTIGATION REOPENED TODAY

McCormick Said Funk Had Told Him That Hines Had Solicited Contribution to Lorimer Fund.

[By Associated Press.]
Washington, June 20.—The second Senate investigation of Senator Lorimer's election began today. Cyrus H. McCormick, president of the International Harvester company, is the first witness. "We will follow every lead that presents itself," said one member of the committee before the sitting today.

McCormick testified that Clarence S. Funk, general manager of his company, had told him that Edward Hines, of the Hines Lumber company, had invited the harvester company to contribute to the Lorimer election fund, but that Funk had declined to do so. Only hearsay evidence was brought out.

AUSTIN LAWYER DEAD

[By Associated Press.]
Galveston, June 20.—Judge George W. Allen, of Austin, who was one of the state's attorneys in the Waters Pierce oil case, died here this morning.
